- A voluntary position on the Editorial Board of UFV's literary magazine during the Fall 2021 term, now a directed study throughout the Winter 2022 term.
- Duties consisted of keeping up with webmaster responsibilities, i.e. mailing lists for beta readers and submissions of literature and art.
- Copyediting of shortlisted submissions.
- Give and convey feedback to submissions' authors in a constructive and helpful manner.
- Assist in making critical decisions on which pieces to include in edition of magazine.

COMMUNICATION & LEADERSHIP

Over the course of my academic career I have had the opportunity to fill leadership positions during writing workshops in order to ensure that written projects were produced at a good pace and resulted in exceptional quality. In addition, I have been able to correspond with agents and editors within the literary and publishing industries so as to receive and implement constructive feedback on my writing and learn more about their fields.

WHY SHOULD YOU HIRE ME?

Though I am inexperienced in the field, writing is something I am and always have been passionate about. I would be grateful for any opportunity you could offer, and I believe my work, as well as my studies show my commitment and enthusiasm. I believe that my varied perspective could bring a lot to the team!
